

Winter – A Time For Fresh Resolve

The start of 2019 has already seen great successes for NottsWatch, with growth in members and development in campaigns proving the value of care and support for local communities. This newsletter will cover just a few of these stories, alongside important discussions of safety and awareness in our daily lives. For more details, and to stay up to date with NottsWatch campaigns, find us on Facebook, Twitter, or on our website.

Area Spotlight – Expansion in Newark

Plans have been set in motion for a major new scheme around the Newark and Sherwood area later this year. The local police and council have recognised the value of neighbourhood watch and asked Paul Macey, Vice Chair of NottsWatch, for his help.

Both authorities will each identify ten vulnerable residents (with the possibility of the public nominating a further ten) in most need of support. Mr Macey expressed his delight at Newark Council's efforts to "push the principle of good community living, which fits very well with our ethics.

The idea is that once an individual has been identified, the Councils and authorities team up to help that resident in any way they can, be it social care, security, lighting, tidying up their home or garden and generally making life better and safer for that person or family.

Then when that is done, Neighbourhood Watch can get involved to set up a local scheme in the immediate area of that person's home to help support and monitor that resident from any unwanted callers or visitors and make the person feel safer in their community."

Meanwhile, the Newark and Sherwood District Council "Report It" campaign has received positive feedback, with a visible increase in police presence in and around the town centre.

"We are now using individual officer and PCSO contact details and those of council officers to get information quickly and accurately direct to those that need it," Mr Macey added.

"The general feeling is that the community are seeing and hearing of much better Police support and successes."

Cleaner, Safer, Greener, Stronger

Also, in Newark, new community-based neighbourhood wardens have been recruited onto the frontline in support of the Cleaner, Safer & Greener campaign, with a focus on working with the community to promote a responsible approach to looking after the environment – and will issue fixed penalty notices (FPNs) where necessary when the law is broken in that regard.

District council leader Councillor David Lloyd said:

"We take great pride in our district as a place to live, work and visit and our new neighbourhood wardens will support our work to make it even Cleaner, Safer & Greener. Their appointment also sends out a strong message to those people who spoil and disrespect our district: Make no mistake: We will take action to punish you."

Community Payback Nominations Provide Plans For Spring Cleaning

Many communities have areas that are in need of a clean-up or renovation, but for whatever reason have yet to be tackled.

If you are aware of such an area that needs TLC, you can nominate the site through the government's Nominate a Community Payback project, which utilises offenders who are required to undertake community service to improve communities as recompense for their crimes.

Previous works in Nottinghamshire include the clearing and renovating of a large unkempt area behind the Radford and Lenton Library, which was transformed by workers into a community garden.

The garden is now being used by local residents and groups to grow organic produce, and as an area where children can play and learn about gardening. The project has also utilised recycled materials, donated by local businesses which promotes sustainability.

Nominations must meet a set of criteria, including:

- The work must benefit the local community;
- Such work cannot take paid work away from others;
- The completion of work must not make a profit for anyone.

For further guidelines on appropriate projects, and for details on how to nominate a community project in your area, visit the government website at:

Fraud Advice – Know The Signs

Many modern-day scams rely on the targeted person presuming authenticity without evidence; If a caller makes excuses or is hesitant to provide concrete proof of their legitimacy, they are likely trying to dupe you.

Also, social media quizzes can often hide malicious intent by asking seemingly innocuous questions – pet's name, favourite instrument and so on – as a way of harvesting sensitive data.

Additionally, exhortations of love, bereavement or emergency, or Receiving messages from unknown people claiming you are uniquely required for a task, money transfer or other online communication should always be a red flag. Best practice is to ignore communications from any unverified source and consign their correspondence to your spam folder.

Uninvited Callers

Police advice is to never buy goods or services from unsolicited callers. It may help to deter unwanted callers by displaying a message at your front door. NottsWatch have a small supply of the above message, or you can get a printout from:

Nominated Neighbour Scheme – Offering Help with Unwanted Callers

Unexpected house callers may be no more than a nuisance or inconvenience for some, but to others it can be an anxious and concerning affair, especially if the caller has less than scrupulous goals for the interaction.

To alleviate this source of worry for members of the community, Nottinghamshire County Council has developed a Nominated Neighbour scheme, whereby a trusted neighbour is asked to speak to any doorstep callers on their neighbour's behalf. In practice, there will be few callers that will pursue speaking to the resident by contacting their nominated neighbour, so it is unlikely to be an onerous task for the neighbour to take on.

The vulnerable person need not open the door – they can simply pass the caller a card through their letter box.

The Nominated Neighbour will check the reason for the visit and confirm the caller's identity, and (if appropriate) will go with the caller during their visit.

Once the caller has finished their visit, the Nominated Neighbour will escort them off the premises, allaying any concerns for infirm or unconfident residents.

If you, or someone you know, may benefit from the scheme contact the Citizens Advice Consumer Service on 03454 04 05 06.

Trading Standards Advice and Support

Do you need help with a consumer issue or want to report something to Trading Standards? Trading Standards work in partnership with the Citizens Advice consumer service, which provides free, confidential and impartial advice on consumer issues. It can help if you need:

- Advice before you purchase goods or pay for services;
- Advice about resolving an issue or dispute with a retailer or trader.

To contact the Citizens Advice consumer service:

Scams, And How To Fight Them

NottsWatch is already working closely with Nottinghamshire Age Friendly and have recently started working with Nottinghamshire Trading Standards and Nottinghamshire Police Cybercrime Unit (Twitter: @NottsCyberCrime) for real time updates on scams and how to protect from them. Our common aim is to enable healthier and safer communities and empower citizens to get involved with these campaigns.

It is an unfortunate fact of modern life that many scams are committed online and aimed at the less technically savvy individuals who may be less likely to notice the signs of a scam. Cybercrime is growing alongside the expansion of online services and products, so it is becoming more important than ever to know what a scam looks like.

For this reason, NottsWatch communications team member, Jozef Doyle, recently signed up to become a 'Scam Marshall' with the organisation Friends Against Scams, who work alongside the National Trading Standards Scam Team to help identify, investigate and

Fraud Advice – Useful Tips

Make your home phone number ex-directory:

To avoid having your phone number listed on websites, you need to contact your provider to have your number made ex-directory. This means your number won't appear in local telephone directories.

Telephone Preference Service:

Free opt-out service to prevent unsolicited calls. Tel: 0845 070 0707 or visit:

True Caller:

For smartphones you can download the True Caller app from any app store. The app is regularly updated to significantly reduce nuisance calls.

Check your email spam settings:

Many email service providers have built-in spam filter settings that can remove suspicious emails from your inbox automatically. These tools can be found in Outlook, Gmail and other services. A good ad-hoc method is to always mark suspicious messages as "spam" so your email server will know to block similar messages in future.

For example, The 'Apple' emails received include "[summary revision account]" which is not a phrase a large company is likely to use as the header to an email directed at a customer.
